Of the Sommerings.

Of Autumne.

Any two Orbs hauing their motion in a perpendiculer line one to another, including both their Axis obiect Plane to Plane, directly each to other: but our darke obscure opacous, and spheaticall Orbe (the xii. of September) mouuing himselfe in such a habitude to the Globe of Lights conuexe, obiecteth each portion of his plane in equall plane, to equall illumination, and so maketh day and night alike long all this world ouer. The moment of which habitude, giueth the beginning to the last quarter of the Astronomicall yeare called Autumne or Harueſt.

The Dyscraſie of this time of the yeare, is the cause of many Diseases, and will be now the occasion of Consumptions, Seranguine, Gontes, Collicke, and Ilhacke passions, Dropsies; besides many other Phlegmaticke griefes,
